INSTRUCTIONS

This is an informed consent document to help you learn about vaginoplasty and perineoplasty surgery. You will learn about the surgery, its risks, and other treatment(s) you may choose.

It is important that you read the whole document carefully. Please initial each page. Doing so means you have read the page. Signing the consent agreement means that you agree to the surgery that you have talked about with your plastic surgeon.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Vaginoplasty and perineoplasty are surgeries for women with vaginal and perineal looseness. If you feel that your vaginal opening has gotten bigger and is less tight, you may consider these operations.

The terms “vaginoplasty” and “perineoplasty” mean making the opening of the vagina smaller. Changes in your body caused by pregnancy, sex, childbirth, menopause, and age can make your vaginal opening larger. Many women are upset by these changes, which can be obvious to them and their sexual partners.

Vaginoplasty and perineoplasty are two of the most common surgeries done on the genitals (genital rejuvenation procedures). These operations involve cutting away extra tissue, tightening the perineal body and/or vagina, and closing the cuts. The surgery should leave you with a smaller vaginal opening.

ALTERNATIVE TREATMENTS

Surgery is not the only way to make your vaginal opening smaller or to get the results you want. You may want to opt for other treatments, like non-surgical tightening. Some options include using lasers or radiofrequency therapy. Some options can change how your labia looks but cannot change your actual vaginal opening or perineal area. Other types of treatment may have their own risks.

RISKS OF VAGINOPLASTY & PERINEOPLASTY SURGERY

All surgeries have some risks. It is important that you understand these risks. You must also understand other issues that might come up during or after your surgery. Every procedure has limits.

Choosing to have surgery means comparing the risks and benefits. Most people do not face problems, but you should discuss them with your plastic surgeon. Make sure you understand everything that might happen during and after your vaginoplasty and perineoplasty.

SPECIFIC RISKS OF VAGINOPLASTY & PERINEOPLASTY SURGERY

Scarring:

All surgeries leave scars. Some are seen more clearly than others. Some cause more problems than others. Although you can usually expect to heal well after surgery, your skin and deeper tissues might have unusual scars. How a scar looks can even change within the scar itself. Scars may appear different on your right or left sides (asymmetry). You may notice visible marks on your skin from stitches. Scarring from this surgery may result in painful sex or persistent arousal. In some cases, you may need to have more treatment, like surgery, to fix the problems.

Pain:

You will have pain after surgery. The pain you feel after surgery may vary in how strong it is and how long it lasts. Some people have continued pain. This may happen if some nerves are stuck in the scar tissue after surgery (neuromas) or to the tissue stretches.

Skin Contour Irregularities:

After surgery, you may notice changes to the shape of your skin. You may see or feel wrinkles. The skin at the ends of any cuts or “dog ears” may change if there is extra skin. Such skin folds may get better with time, or it can be fixed with surgery.

Damage to Deeper Structures:

Surgery may injure parts of your body including nerves, blood vessels, muscles, the bladder, urethra, and colon/rectum. Your risk will be different depending on the kind of surgery you have. Injuries like this may heal or may be permanent.

Recurrence of Symptoms and Laxity:

After the surgery, you may notice ongoing or occasional looseness in your vaginal canal and/or perineum depending on how your body heals and how your tissues stretch with time.

DISCLAIMER

Informed consent documents give you information about a surgery you are considering. These documents explain the risks of that surgery. They also discuss other treatment options, including not having surgery. However, informed consent documents can't cover everything. Your plastic surgeon may give you more or different information. This may be based on the facts of your case.

Informed consent documents are not meant to define or serve as the standard of medical care. Standards of medical care are determined based on the facts involved in an individual case. They may change with advances in science and technology. They can also change with the way doctors practice medicine.

It is important that you read the above information carefully and get all your questions answered before signing the consent agreement on the next page.
